RE: Fourth Week of Session Summary – Week of January 31- February 4, 2022

With the Legislature nearing the halfway point of the 2022 Legislative Session, policy bills are moving through the committee process and getting closer to being signed into law. Last week, the House and Senate Appropriations Committees unveiled their proposed budgets for FY 2022-23, with both budgets being significantly higher than Governor Ron DeSantis' $99.7 billion spending plan. The House proposal of $105.3 billion is 3.6% higher than the current year's budget and contains appropriations for PreK-12 education, infrastructure, tourism and economic development, natural resource preservation, health care and public safety. The Senate's proposed budget totals $108.6 billion and includes funding for the policy areas listed above.

In both the House and Senate budget proposals, VISIT FLORIDA is funded at $50 million for FY 2022-23. The budgets also include funding for cultural, museum and historic grants and programs. The House has proposed $37.1 million for cultural and museum grants, while the Senate has proposed $39.2 million. Additionally, the House is proposing $185.2 million for improvements to state parks, while the Senate is proposing $56.7 million.

Over the next month, leaders of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees, House Speaker Chris Sprowls and Senate President Wilton Simpson will work to close the $3.3 billion gap in their budget proposals and align their final product with the Governor's proposed budget.
